Wastewater district approves contract

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

With a 2-1 vote, the Waveland Regional Wastewater Management District approved a contract for work in the second phase of upgrading the sewer system in Hancock County.

The contract was awarded to Hemphill Construction Co., Inc. of Florence, who had submitted the low bid of $790,321 at an earlier meeting this month.

The one-year contract includes the construction of a force main from the Bay St. Louis lagoon to Gulfside Street and the expansion of the wastewater district laboratory and office building.

The vote split 1-1, with Bay St. Louis Mayor Victor Frankiewicz Jr. voting against and Hancock County Board of Supervisors President A. A. Kellar voting for the contract to be awarded.

Waveland Mayor John Longo Jr., wastewater district chairman broke the tie, voting in favor of the contract award to Hemphill.

Frankiewicz said his opposition to the contract was based on the high bid price.

The engineer had estimated that the bid would be approximately $653,000, he added.

"If the entire plan was scrapped and we started again we could get the same work done much less expensively," Frankiewicz said.

"It is just too much expense for what we are getting," he said.

Frankiewicz said in a cost breakdown, the expansion of the district office was costing in excess of $100 per square yard.

"The pipe is also being laid in a very expensive area, because of the heavy congestion of underground pipes," he said.

Frankiewicz said in this contract, the district is actually paying $137,000 to "undo" something that was paid to be done in Segment I.

In the first segment, $60,000 was spent to change the flow from north to south and in the new contract the flow will be reversed at more than twice the cost, he said.

He added that the reason the contract was approved was because of the time schedule the five part sewer system upgrade project is using.

"I think the other members of the wastewater district did not believe there would be enough time to get the project redesigned," Frankiewicz said.

"But I just don't believe the district worked hard enough to find the least expensive way to get the job done," he said.

Two Hancock recreation projects funded at $90,000

Action by the Commission on Wildlife Conservation Monday cleared the way for its Bureau of Marine Resources to disburse monies up to $240,000 in recreational funding for the cities of Biloxi and Gulfport and for projects in Hancock and Jackson counties, according to BMR Director Dr. Richard L. Leard.

HANCOCK COUNTY, $60,000, Pearl River Recreation Area

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors is in the process of finalizing their plans to improve the recreational potential of a 2.5 acre site on the banks of the Pearl River at Pearlington.

Specifically, the Board of Supervisors will improve access to the abundant water, fish, and wildlife resources of the Pearl River, by the construction of a two-lane boat launch, attendant docking and tie-up facilities, and vehicle and trailer parking area.

Other improvements such as picnic area, lighting, and a fish cleaning area will be constructed to improve the overall recreational potential of this underdeveloped county land. The piers and launching area is expected to be contracted to a private firm and the on-shore improvements will be done with county labor.

Once funding has been received, the Board of Supervisors will finalize their plans and issue an RFP for the contract work. This is expected to take approximately three months. Improvements to be done by the county will be completed within three months after the contract work is done.

HANCOCK COUNTY, $30,000, Curtis Johnson Park

The park property is located in Hancock County on the Pearl River north of Interstate 10 and south of the National Space Technology Laboratories near the old Napoleon community.

Proposed site improvements are phased in two parts.

Phase I improvements call for a boat ramp to be constructed at the terminal of an improved existing road due west of Pond No. 2.

Pond No. 2 will be filled and a boat trailer parking area constructed in its place.

The existing road and new parking areas will be overlaid with sand and gravel, much of which can be obtained from the dirt pits.

A fishing pier, boardwalk, and moorings piers will be constructed in the area of the boat ramp.

Phase I will also include the placement of concrete picnic tables near Pearl River. Other proposed Phase I improvements consist of the placement of culverts under the road as it crosses the swamp area.

A berm on the north side of Dirt Pit No. 2 will be built to enclose a proposed lake. Dirt Pit No. 1 and No. 2 will be connected to Pond No. 1 which would then become Lake Napoleon. An entrance sign is also included in Phase I.

Phase II improvements call for the construction of a nature trail/boardwalk extending through the swamp area. A footbridge over

Bay school board election set

The election for a seat on the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District has been scheduled for Saturday, March 1, from 2-5 p.m. at Waveland Elementary School.

Candidates for the election must qualify for the election before Jan. 20 by filing with the Superintendent J. D. McCulloch.

Each candidate must be certified as a voter and resident of the school district and collect signatures from 25 other area residents to qualify. The election is being conducted to fill the seat of School Board President Walter Turcotte, whose term expires in February.

McCulloch said at this time no candidate has qualified for the election.

Turcotte reported Friday that he had decided to run for reelection although it had been stated earlier he would not be seeking a third term.

Stained glass window suggested as memorial for Katrina McDonald

By Joe Pilet
Katrina McDonald needs no eulogy. No formal speech nor written statement in her praise seems appropriate. How fortunate we were to have had for many years her gentle guidance in both civic and church affairs!

What a complex and gifted person Katrina was. How successfully she worked to improve the quality of life for each of us! Wit and wisdom were at her instant command. Her name stands out in records—club minutes—engraved plaques. Her goodness has touched the hearts of all who knew her.

Because she taught in the Main Street Methodist Church, and faithfully recorded its history, nothing could be more appropriate than installation of a stained glass window placed there in her memory by public subscription.

A small child once gave a description of a stained glass window as follows:

"It is a colored glass picture in a window frame and it shows a Saint that sparkles where the light comes through."

Such a window would enhance the beauty of the little Carpenter's Gothic church and remind those viewing it that Katrina's light continues to shine through, giving us her blessing.

Happy Birthday, Darling.
God's golden gates stood open two years ago today.

With farewells left unspoken you quickly skipped away.

Your cheerful smile and helpful ways,
We miss so much these lonely days.

Although we sometimes question the wisdom of His love,
But God calls His angels to be with Him alone.

No heartaches can compare with the death of a child.
But one day, Myrthee, we will be by your side.

Clean beach promised for holidays, Waveland, county patching boulevard

BY DENA BISNETTE

The City of Waveland and Hancock County plan to have the remaining debris from Hurricane Juan cleared from the beach in time for Christmas.

Beat One Supervisor Bert Courge and City Supervisor Herman Yarborough said the clean-up was scheduled to be completed Friday afternoon.

The completion deadline could be moved to early this week if delays develop, Yarborough said Thursday. In addition to clean-up, the Waveland Board of Aldermen has agreed to patch Beach Boulevard within the city limits.

"We just decided it would be a nice Christmas present for the beach to be clean by Christmas," Waveland Mayor John Longo Jr. said at Wednesday's city board meeting. Longo explained that the county will repay the cost of the paving work required to patch the road when property tax collections begin coming in during January.

Meanwhile, Beach Boulevard has been added to a $200,000 paving contract the city has with Necaise Construction.

The contract includes several Waveland streets that need repair or surfacing.

Courge said the patching being done by the city is not a permanent repair job, but is actually "some band-aid maintenance to hold it all together until the county comes up with a permanent solution."

"The road is still far from being safe and we don't plan to lift the load limit, but light traffic will be able to use it more easily," he said.

He said there are still some box culverts near Buccannier State Park and Clermont Harbor he feels could cave in under heavy trucks. At least one culvert is severely cracked, he added.

"The culverts are going to be expensive to replace. Waveland won't be able to help with them because they are outside the city limits."

Some of the worse sinkholes in Beat One have been filled and patched by county crews, however, and should make for a smoother ride for those who must use the Beach Road, Courge added.

"Some of them were so bad we had to cut out sections of road and replace them," the supervisor commented.

He added that at least one of the spots patched will have to be redone because the void under the road was larger than expected and settling has occurred.

In other business Wednesday, the aldermen:

—Agreed to advertise for maintenance for the city water tank near Water Tower Plaza;

—Approved bylaws for the operation of the county animal shelter by the Hancock County Animal Commission; and —Approved the city's 1985 tax rolls.

Quotables by Cuevas

Dear Santa:

Many of the children in the Bay-Waveland and Hancock County areas who have been sitting on your lap making their Christmas wishes known to you will be attending public kindergartens next August.

This will be a new experience for the youngsters and we wish that you would use your influence in helping them from having to attend class in a trailer.

Sincerely,
Ellis Cuevas

Bad things which happen appear to dominate news columns of The Sea Coast Echo like the majority of newspapers throughout the country.

At this Christmas Season we think it only appropriate to report on some of the many good things which are happening in our county.

Since Ronald Peterson has been sheriff, one gentleman who wishes to remain anonymous gives him envelopes with cash to be distributed to very needy families with children living in Hancock County.

The sheriff contacts the Welfare Department to seek the names of the most deserving families.

In each of the previous years five envelopes have been given to the sheriff, and this year there were six.

The expressions on the faces of the persons receiving the special gifts are hard to describe, the sheriff says.

In other acts of kindness businessmen, churches, veterans and civic organizations, and individuals donate and help deliver baskets of groceries to deserving families.

And then we think of the children, many of whose parents have been without work for many months, and with nothing to be placed under their Christmas tree.

In comes The Hancock County Doll and Toy Fund, headed by Bay St. Louis Fire Chief Andrew Lizana.

The Doll and Toy Fund started out several years ago as a very small operation with firefighters recycling toys for a few Bay St. Louis youngsters.

It now has grown into very large operation with over 650 youngsters living in Bay St. Louis, Waveland and the county expected this year to receive a toy or two for their Christmas.

This is all made possible by the work of Chief Lizana and his firefighters, in addition to the United Way, individual donations of cash, new toys, reusable toys and special prices by local merchants.

To help Santa, the Hancock sheriff's department, and the Hancock County fire departments are helping deliver Doll and Toy Fund toys.

These are just a few of the many good things happening among us in Hancock County during this Christmas Season.

We wish to each and everyone of you a very Merry Christmas.

"For unto us a child is born...and his name will be called wonderful counselor, mighty God, everlasting Father, Prince of Peace."
Isaiah 9:6

CONTROLLING HOLIDAY STRESS

Q. As the holiday season approaches, I often feel sad and depressed. I've heard of holiday stress before, but what can I do about it?

A. If you suffer from holiday stress, you're not alone. Holidays are happy times for most people, but for some, they can stimulate mental or physically stressful emotions.

During the Christmas season many people experience a heightened awareness of their emotions. Many have great expectations for the upcoming holiday, especially in feelings of closeness to family and friends.

Many are disappointed because family members, friends or even themselves have not lived up to their expectations.

Because the holidays are part and parcel of the year's end, people take stock of themselves and their lives, sometimes with a sense of regret, failure or rejection.

A FIRE PREVENTION
MESSAGE FROM YOUR LOCAL FIRE DEPARTMENT.

People who have lost family or friends tend to feel the loss more deeply during a holiday season, even if the loss occurred long ago. People away from home may feel extremely lonely and sad.

These stressful emotions may be temporary or may linger on and develop into depression. They may cause certain medical conditions such as headaches, heart and gastrointestinal disorders and other stress-related problems.

To make matters worse, people are more inclined to over eat and to drink too much alcohol at this time of year.

These changes, along with other interruptions of normal routines during the holidays, including exercise, time to relax, taking prescribed medications and other regularly scheduled activities, also can lead to worsening medical conditions.

A combination of all of these factors during the holidays can be especially devastating to the elderly, who actually may become ill during this time as a result of the stress.

Being forewarned about holiday stress is perhaps the best way to avoid it. Doctors suggest that people try to manage their time in a reasonable manner, keep up with important daily rituals and schedules, and indulge in holiday pleasures only with moderation.

Talking with friends or relatives, attending religious services may help, but if not, people who know they have a tendency toward stressful feelings during the holidays may wish to seek help from a psychiatrist, social worker, pastoral counselor or other mental health professional.

A discussion of their anticipated stress or troubled emotions is often very beneficial.

This "Matter of Health" was prepared in cooperation with psychiatrists on staff at University Hospital, the teaching hospital for the University of Mississippi Medical Center, Mississippi's only health sciences campus.

Readers may suggest future topics by writing to "Matters of Health," the University of Mississippi Medical Center, 2500 North State Street, Jackson, Miss. 39216-4505.

Christmas Thoughts

Let us keep Christmas all year! It's meaning never ends: the time of year to wish happiness and good will to friends and loved ones, near and far; the time to share the joys of the past and the hopes of the future, and to remember all we have to be thankful for.

If we can do this for a day, why not forever?

Let us keep the true spirit of Christmas today, tomorrow and always.

Winter Awareness

Did you know that in the U.S. more people have died from excessive cold in the past 30 years than from tornadoes, hurricanes and flood combined?

Although Mississippi is far enough south to miss prolonged periods of snow, ice and frigid temperatures, we do, however, have to contend with brief periods of bitterly cold temperatures and wintry precipitation every couple of years or so.

The last few winters have been highlighted by severe winter blasts from the Arctic. We cannot prevent these spells of frigid weather, but we can be prepared when they do occur.

For this reason, the National Weather Service, in cooperation with the Federal Emergency Management Agency and Mississippi Emergency Management Agency, are launching a winter awareness campaign.

For those who perhaps have forgotten, a severe winter storm paralyzed much of Mississippi February 1 and 2 of this year. In the state, three people died directly from the cold during this storm, while several other deaths were caused indirectly by the storm.

An event of this magnitude is certainly possible again. Will we be ready in Mississippi? Those who take the time to heed the winter precautions will be prepared.

Please do not wait until a winter storm is upon us to begin preventative actions. It may be too late. This week, before bitterly cold temperatures or winter precipitation strikes is the time to begin winter preparations.

Winter topics that will be covered include Hypothermia on Thursday and Winter Travel on Friday.

Winter Preparedness at Home

If exposed outdoor water pipes or outdoor water faucets have not been wrapped, it should be done as soon as possible. The pipes should be wrapped in insulation made especially for water pipes, or in layers of old newspapers. The insulation or newspapers need to be covered with plastic to keep out the moisture. When the temperature falls to extremely cold levels, it is wise to let the indoor faucets drip a little. Although this wastes a little water, it may prevent the pipes from freezing up.

If your pipes do freeze despite your preventive efforts, then you should open the indoor faucets all the way to allow expansion of the frozen water. Unwrap your pipes and pour hot water over them. Do not use blow torches!

Another winter preventive measure that should have already been performed is the winterization of your car. This involves adding enough anti-freeze to your radiator to protect it to well below zero. If your battery is weak or old, it might be a good investment to buy a new one now. If you don't, one cold morning you may wish you had. The battery terminals should also be cleaned. The wipers, heater and defroster should be in top shape.

In your home, insulation is very important. It will save you money on energy costs and also keep your home more comfortable. Air leaks need to be stopped. If you do not have storm windows or doors, then they should be caulked and weather stripped. Covering windows with plastic will also reduce heat loss.

For more information on how to insulate your home, contact the Mississippi Department of Transportation and Energy. The address is Mississippi Department of Transportation and Energy, 1504 Walter Sillers Building, Jackson, MS 39201, or call 601/354-7018.

Hypothermia

When the body begins losing heat faster than it can produce it, a condition called hypothermia develops. It is easy to detect. The symptoms include:

- 1) Uncontrollable shivering
- 2) Vague, slow, slurred speech
- 3) Memory lapses; incoherence

- 4) Immobility, fumbling hands
- 5) Frequent stumbling
- 6) Drowsiness
- 7) Apparent exhaustion; inability to get up after a rest

If a person shows any signs of overexposure to the cold, the following measures need to be taken immediately. The person may claim that there are no problems, but often they will not realize the seriousness of the situation.

First the person must be changed into dry clothing and into a warm bed or sleeping bag. A hot water bottle or heating pad should be used, but not at hot levels.

When a person has hypothermia or severe cold weather exposure, heating the trunk of the body first (shoulders, chest and stomach) is a must.

This allows heat to travel from the vital organs to the body's extremities. It cannot be stressed how important this is.

If hypothermia is severe and heat is first used on the extremities, the inside organs could be damaged or possibly fail, causing death.

After heat is applied to the mid-section, keep the head low and get the feet up to get warm blood circulating to the head.

Try to give the person warm drinks. Absolutely no alcohol, sedatives or pain relievers should be given. Do not massage or rub. If the symptoms are extreme, professional medical assistance should be called immediately.

Winter Travel

Although severe winter storms are not very common in Mississippi, it is quite a different story across the Northern United States and across the Rockies.

With the Christmas season approaching, many people from Mississippi will travel northward. Those who do, must be prepared. Below is a summary of preparations that should be taken.

Before you leave, your car should be equipped with reinforced tire chains. Other supplies that should be included are extra blankets, extra winter clothes, non-perishable food supply, transistor radio, battery booster cables, first aid kit, flash light and a shovel. Before you start out, find out the road conditions in the area you will be traveling. Also check the current weather forecast.

If you are caught in a winter storm and your car becomes stranded, stay put! This cannot be emphasized enough. Do not try to walk for help. You are likely to get lost or suffer from hypothermia. Your car will provide an excellent shelter until help arrives.

The one danger of staying in your car is carbon monoxide poisoning. The engine and heat in your car should be used sparingly and the window opened occasionally for ventilation.

The tailpipe must be checked frequently to see it is not clogged. If more than one person is in the car, take turns going to sleep. If you're stuck during the day, place an orange or red flag in your antenna. At night, leave the inside dome light on, not your headlights.

With proper planning and common sense, you can survive being stuck in a car, even for a long period of time. The time to prepare your winter travel survival kit is now. Prepare now and have a safe winter, at home and on the road.

From the Office of the Governor

Gov. Bill Allain has appointed 29 Mississippians to a council that will make recommendations on Project Second Chance, a program to help released offenders return to society.

Members of the Project Second Chance Advisory Council include law enforcement and corrections officials, local elected officials, representatives of federal and state agencies, members of the clergy, industry representatives and private citizens. The council will develop goals and objectives for Project Second Chance, make recommendations on training programs for volunteers and determine guidelines for screening volunteers and offenders.

Project Second Chance was initiated by Allain to utilize volunteer efforts in helping former prisoners become constructive members of society, instead of returning to a life of crime. "Our aim is to organize a program that will give former inmates, who have paid their debts to society, a second chance," Allain said.

The governor designated the Department of Human Development, Governor's Office of Federal-State Programs, as the administering agency and appointed Linda Hart Whittington, a University of Southern Mississippi criminal justice graduate, as coordinator. Whittington said the needs of a cond Chance will help to secure, include a job, a place to live and often counseling for the released offender and his family.

Allain appointed Ruth Campbell of Jackson, executive producer of public affairs for the Mississippi Authority for Educational Television, and the Rev. Elvin Sunds of Jackson, director of Catholic Charities, as co-chairmen of the advisory council.

Others named to the council were Arthur E. Brown III of Jackson, state director of ACTION, the federal agency for volunteer activities; the Rev. C. Hairston of Jackson, director, Mississippi Correctional Reform Association; Claude Hartness of Jackson, regional director, Mississippi Department of Public Welfare; Nadine Herndon of Meridian; Robert F. Hester of Hattiesburg, director of clinical services, Pine Belt Mental Health and Retardation Services; Allene Hickman of Philadelphia; and Jones County Sheriff H. M. Hooks of Laurel.

Gloster; Billy King of Ocean Springs; Dr. Larry LeFlore of Hattiesburg, assistant professor, University of Southern Mississippi Department of Criminal Justice; Roy Long of Parchman, administrative assistant, State Parole Board; the Rev. John McBride of Jackson, president, Mississippi Jail and Prison Ministry Association; David McIntyre of Jackson, placement specialist, Mississippi Employment Security Commission; and Capt. Bill Mills of Hattiesburg, Forrest County Sheriff's Office.

Others are Byron Patton of Pascagoula, employment and placement representative, Ingalls Shipbuilding; Chaplain Ron Padgett of Parchman, director, State Penitentiary Chaplain's Department; Norman F. Pennington of Jackson, general manager, Borden Inc. Consumer Products Division; James L. Roberts Jr. of Jackson, commissioner, Mississippi Department of Public Safety; Willie Simmons of Parchman, director, Therapeutic Pre-Release Center; Edwin Snyder of Eupora, district attorney, Fifth Circuit Court District; Greenwood Police Chief James Stevens; Milton Williams of Jackson, director, New Hope Three-Quarter House; and Dr. Nanola Yazdani of Parchman, correctional psychologist, Regimented Inmate Discipline Program.

The advisory council will hold its first meeting Dec. 7 at the State Capitol.

VEHICLE'S FRAME BROKEN—Mississippi State Trooper Houston Dorr investigated the early Saturday morning accident involving this vehicle. The driver of the vehicle which was traveling west on I-10 was identified as Clordia Stamps, 28, of Gulfport, Dorr said, adding he struck a guard rail at the intersection of Highway 603 and was thrown through the windshield as the vehicle flipped over another car and ended up in the middle of the highway. Sam Perniclaro, of Sam Wreckers Service readjusts cables after removing vehicle from I-10. Stamps was taken to Hancock General Hospital by Mobile Medic and later transferred to Gulfport Memorial. He was reported by a Memorial Hospital spokesman as being in a stable condition in a private room late Saturday. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas).

The connection between Pond No. 1 and Dirt Pit No. 1 will be constructed to gain access to a proposed picnic area. Limited stocking of fish in Lake Napoleon may be necessary.

BILOXI, $60,000, Popp's Ferry Boat Ramp

The City of Biloxi in conjunction with the Harrison County Board of Supervisors proposes to construct four launching ramps and five, short, intervening service piers along the western side of the old Popp's Ferry Causeway near its southern terminus.

The ramps will be constructed of steel-reinforced, formed and poured concrete. The service piers will be constructed of creosote-treated pilings and timbers with the air of barge-mounted equipment. Service ramps and adjacent parking areas will be covered with asphalt, crushed shells, gravel, or a combination thereof. Auxiliary structures (eg. picnic tables, shelters, restrooms, etc.) may be constructed at the facility in the future.

GULFPORT, $30,000, Courthouse Road Project

Proposed Courthouse Road improvements will include increased parking, repairs to the pier and bulkhead, access ways for the handicapped, reconstruction of the boat launch and attendant facilities, and the addition of beach user items such as cabanas, showers, restrooms, etc.

It is conceivable that several hundred thousand dollars could be allocated to a high use area like Courthouse Road. However, that much money is not available from any source at this time which will necessitate an "incremental" approach to construction of this high priority site.

JACKSON COUNTY, $60,000, Gulf Park Estates Pier, East Ocean Springs.

Jackson County is seeking 306(A) assistance to renovate the existing pier in Gulf Park Estates which was damaged during Hurricane Frederick in 1979. The pier extends from Gulf Park Beach to approximately 250 feet into the Mississippi Sound.

The renovation of the Gulf Park Pier will consist of replacing all damaged pilings and extending the existing pier approximately 100 feet to provide a new wood pier approximately 350 feet in length.

In addition to the renovation of the Gulf Park Pier, Jackson County proposes other activities to provide public access to this pier. These activities consist of: over-laying the existing entrance into the beach area and improving the off-street parking areas; constructing a boardwalk from the parking area eastward to the pier for the protection of the sand beach and tidal marsh area; and constructing a pavilion at the junction of the boardwalk and pier.

It is anticipated that the proposed project will be completed approximately six months from notice of the grant award and should be ready for public use by the summer of 1986.

In the future the Bureau of Marine Resources will continue to fund these programs to maintain and enhance facilities for boaters and fishermen. Hassel-free boating access is a key ingredient for our continued and expanded enjoyment of marine water sports, and the Department of Wildlife Conservation through its Bureau of Marine Resources is committed to sponsor as many such projects as it can with available monies.

Bay structure gutted by morning fire

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Bay St. Louis firefighters responded to a structure fire at 525 US-90 at 1:31 a.m. Saturday.

When the first unit arrived on the scene, flames were throughout the building, Fire Chief Andrew Lizana said.

"The inside of the house was completely engulfed in flames when our unit arrived at the scene and there was extensive damage to the structure," Lizana reported.

Capt. Mike Willumitis, firefighters Terry McCrory, Louis Pendergast, Gary Maurice, Marshall Blackstop and Chief Lizana responded.

The cause of the fire is being ruled as accidental, Lizana, reported after an investigation was completed Saturday morning.

Lizana said he would like to commend Maurice and Blackstop who were off duty and at a party, for making a quick response and aiding the on duty firefighters.

Consider safety, abilities when shopping for toys

In 1984, 128,000 children were treated in emergency rooms for toy-related injuries. Thirty-three other children died as a result of toy-related injuries, according to the Consumer Product Safety Commission National Injury Information Clearinghouse.

The 1984 injury figures increased 8,000 and the death figure increased 17 from 1983 figures. Since it's the biggest shopping time of the year and many parents are making their annual trek to the toy aisles of stores, awareness of toy hazards is important.

"Adults have a responsibility to choose toys carefully. Many adults believe that age labeling recommendations can be ignored because their children are so intelligent," said Norine Barnes, child and family development specialist with Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

But age labeling recommendations often reflect safety concerns as well as helping to choose toys that are suited to the child's level of development. When purchasing toys keep the following points in mind:

- Select carefully to suit the age, skills, abilities and interest of the child.
- For infants and toddlers, avoid toys with small parts that children may put in their mouths or toys with long strings or cords that may cause strangulation.

- Be prepared to supervise and set ground rules for play if supervision is required.

- Look for sturdy construction. When buying soft toys for young children, make sure items are well made with eyes, nose and any other small parts tightly secured.

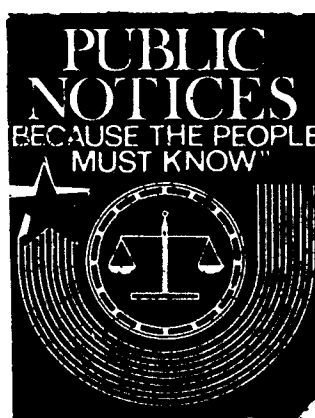

- Check toys regularly for minor damage and repair or discard promptly.

- Keep toys designed for older children out of the reach of younger siblings. The Consumer Product Safety Commission says that most toys are safe, but it is their improper use that causes the vast majority of accidents.

- Balloons cause some deaths each year due to choking or suffocating on uninflated balloons or small pieces of burst balloons.

- Arrows or darts used by children should have soft cork tips, rubber suction cups or other protective tips. Make sure the tips are firmly in place.

- Electric toys with heating elements are recommended only for children eight years and older, and should only be used when supervised by an adult.

POWELL

A SUDDEN TWIST

Yes, a sudden twist or jar can force a spinal bone out of place. This narrows the nerve openings between the spinal bones, resulting in nerves being pinched in the neck or back. When this occurs, and when the body organs which the pinched nerves supply become starved for their proper amount of nerve energy, they will malfunction, creating pain and disease in other areas of the body! Take the case of a boy who, when hit on the head, lost his hearing and later regained it when he suddenly turned and felt a pop in his neck! Or the case of a man who became ill in his stomach and after months of suffering, decided to try Chiropractic. We found a spinal problem pinching the nerve supply to his stomach. With our care, he recovered. Chiropractic may aid you to regain your good health too—why wait.

24-HOUR EMERGENCY CARE

When accidents happen or illness strikes, the need for prompt, expert medical care can be critical.

Now you can have peace of mind, knowing that 24-hour emergency care is only minutes away.

NorthShore Regional Medical Center offers complete round-the-clock emergency medical services:

•The only ambulance service on the North Shore with 24-hour coverage by national registered paramedics, from the emergency site to the hospital. Registered paramedics are specialists in recognizing and responding to life-threatening crises.

•A highly skilled, caring emergency and trauma staff, backed by our medical staff of leading area physicians.

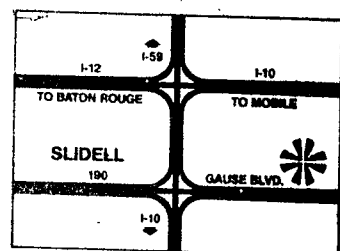

•State-of-the-art equipment in ambulances and the Emergency Room.

Another advantage: tiered-pricing

Tiered-pricing means that you pay only for the degree of care you require. Unlike most hospitals, NorthShore does not charge a flat fee for Emergency Room admissions. In other words, a sore throat doesn't cost as much as a serious fracture.

For yourself and your loved ones, remember NorthShore's 24-Hour Emergency Care Ambulance Service: 646-5050. Outside Louisiana, call toll-free: 1-800-344-6695.

1 mile south of the I-10, I-12 and I-59 intersection. Adjacent to the Cause Blvd. (190) exit, east of I-10.

The Ladies Auxiliary to Post 5931 VFW entertained patients at the Dixie White House Nursing Home December 16. Patients celebrating birthdays during December were honored at this time. Christmas cookies, ice cream and punch were served. Mattie Mitchell, auxiliary president, was assisted by Evelyn Lizana and other members of the auxiliary.

Auxiliary members entertained patients of the VA Nursing Home Care Unit at the Biloxi VA Facility on Tuesday, Dec. 17. Christmas cookies, Coca-Cola and candies were served. Small gifts were given to the patients.

On Thursday, Dec. 19, Post 5931 and auxiliary hosted patients from the VA Hospital with a Christmas dinner which was prepared by the auxiliary.

Learning Ladies

The Learning Ladies Homemaker Club met at the home of the hostess, Mrs. Millie Fisher, Waveland, Dec. 10, for the first Christmas luncheon and party.

A meal of turkey and all the trimmings was prepared by the ladies. A surprise dessert was prepared by Mr. and Mrs. Fisher.

A red and white Christmas theme of decorations was carried out in the home. Games were played and prizes were awarded. Christmas gifts were exchanged by eleven members in attendance.

Christmas carols were sung as the organ was played by Mrs. Fisher. Elections of officers was held at a short club meeting and those elected to serve for the 1986 year are: president, Mrs. Alice Hondzinski; vice-president, Mrs. Barbara Pursley; recording secretary, Mrs. Helen Cazabon; treasurer, Mrs. John Gauthier, and program chairman, Mrs. Charlotte Edwards.

The Learning Ladies have enjoyed making such crafts this year as basket weaving, designing apple-head dolls, and knitting rag weavers. The teachers for these classes were Mrs. Hondzinski, Mrs. Pursley, and Mrs. Fields.

At the fund raising project this year was baking and selling cakes.

At the International Tea, the Learning Ladies took India as their theme. Several members of the club attended the Home Extension Council annual picnic. Club members also took part in dressing dolls for the Salvation Army. Many other activities were enjoyed by all throughout the year.

The next club meeting will be held Jan. 14 and 15 at the Home Extension office. A workshop in batik will be taught by Mrs. Darlene Underwood.

ASK OCHSNER

Q. I've heard how alcohol affects the ability to drive a car. But, I've never really heard exactly what happens to the body and its systems when drinking alcohol. With the holiday season approaching, I think this would be an interesting subject to address by one of your doctors. Mrs. AFJ, Purvis

Dr. O. Thomas Feagin, head of Ochsner's prospective medicine and Wellness programs, says that the general effects of drinking alcohol depend upon body weight and whether the drinker has or has not eaten while drinking. In social circles, drinking alcohol can act as a general anesthetic and reduce inhibitions. But, by just consuming it in small amounts, alcohol will impair your decision-making capabilities.

Based on consumption of a single drink (12 ounces of beer, 4 ounces of dry wine or 1 ounce of hard liquor), and given a person of average size and weight, here's the general effect of drinking:

1-2 drinks—A sense of comfort and relaxation. It takes four hours to wear off.

3 drinks—Reduced inhibitions and exaggerated behavior. It takes six hours to wear off.

4 drinks—Clumsiness and slurring of speech. Probably reaches the point of legal intoxication (usually 0.1 blood alcohol). It takes eight hours to wear off.

5 drinks—Obvious intoxication. When blood alcohol level reaches 0.2, drinker will usually fall asleep.

7-8 drinks—If consumed quickly enough to raise blood alcohol to 0.3, death can result from respiratory function failure.

Drinking four or five drinks a day can cause an accumulation of fat in the cells of the liver. This situation is easily reversible when drinking is stopped. However, if drinking continues at this rate, a condition known as "alcoholic hepatitis" will occur causing inflammation and destruction of liver cells.

Those who continue to drink heavily will develop cirrhosis—irreversible scarring and destruction of liver tissue.

The effects of alcohol on the brain and nervous system include behavioral aggressiveness, mental deterioration, poor judgment and an increased risk for accidents.

It is known to contribute to violent behavior, and is responsible for up to 90 percent of auto fatalities, 83 percent of pedestrian fatalities, 83 percent of fire fatalities, 84 percent of suicide attempts and 65 percent of child abuse.

It is also a contributing factor in a great majority of murders with 60 percent of its victims and 88 percent of their killers having alcohol in the bloodstream.

If you happen to make it home after a binge of drinking, hangovers are inevitably faced by most partygoers. Dr. Feagin also thinks that heavy smoking or exposure to heavy concentrations of tobacco smoke while drinking contributes to the headache experienced by the person who drinks too much.

Time is probably the most reliable hangover remedy. But Dr. Feagin says taking buffered aspirin and drinking a couple of glasses of water before going to bed would help reduce the hangover effect.

And, of course, if you drink, don't drive!

Give garden supplies for Christmas gifts

By Milo Burnham

Horticulture Specialist
Cooperative Extension Service

Winter swept into Mississippi just in time to set the mood for Christmas shopping. Fortunately, gardening chores are at a lull at this time of year, providing time for holiday activities. Since almost everyone practices some type of home gardening, garden gifts should top your Christmas gift list.

The variety of garden items acceptable for giving is almost endless and includes both large and small as well as inexpensive items. A rain gauge, labels, soil thermometer, trowel, water timer and a large ball of nylon cord make excellent stocking stuffers.

Almost every vegetable gardener can use another length of good garden hose, a sprinkler, drip irrigation equipment or several lengths of soaker hose. Garden sprayers are always appreciated. With the plastic types that are a little lower in cost you might want to consider giving two with one labeled "Herbicides" and the other labeled "Insecticides and Fungicides." Consider the smaller capacity sprayers if the gift is for a woman since three gallons of water weighs about 25 pounds.

Garden tools are always appreciated and you have a choice of pruning shears, shovels, rakes, hoes and cultivators. An avid gardener might appreciate a new garden tiller if money isn't a problem. As it turns out some tiller manufacturers give good winter discounts.

I expect there is hardly a gardener that wouldn't appreciate a small greenhouse for starting plants, propagating or over-wintering tender plants. Since greenhouses can be expensive to purchase or build and operate, this is a gift that requires careful consideration before the commitment is made. Also, greenhouse location is important to success and it is possible you just don't have the correct place for one.

Once garden vegetables are grown you'll need something to bring in the harvest so baskets or egg baskets are excellent gift ideas.

A garden cart is also a very useful item for hauling things to and from the garden as well as being handy for everyday yard chores. Since gardening can be tiring work, you might want to consider some outdoor patio furniture for resting during the hot part of the day.

There is hardly a gardener who hasn't done battle with birds over seedlings or ripening fruit, yet gets a kick out of watching humming birds come to a feeder. If you don't have a humming bird feeder in the yard, consider giving one to a family member or putting it on your want list. While on the subject of birds, how about a new purple martin house and a pole to put it on?

For the cook or home canner consider a dehydrator for drying vegetables and fruits, a new canner or maybe even a food processor.

Let's talk turkey this Christmas

By Joe Pilet

Many American families will gather around festively decorated tables this Christmas where, in keeping with tradition, turkey will be featured together with desserts.

Odds are that few people will reflect on how the turkey dinner came about and, indeed, where the bird got its name.

First settlers and explorers such as DeSoto, LaSalle, Iberville and Bienville no doubt feasted on turkey. Why was the bird so named?

No one knows for sure, but in 1931 the Louisiana Department of Conservation issued a bulletin titled "The Birds of Louisiana" and came up with the probability that the name turkey came from the sound the bird makes as it walks along stately and says: "Turk-turk-turk ee."

The Choctaw Indians of the Gulf Coast domesticated the bird and called it a "fakut."

The Biloxi tribe thought its meat a delicacy and used its plumage woven with grasses into handsome blankets.

The wild turkey is a comely bird with glossy plumage when it catches the sunlight.

Betsy Bell, when told that Benjamin Franklin favored the turkey when the name for a national bird was being considered, said: "I am glad the turkey wasn't selected as our National Bird—can you imagine anybody eating a national bird?"

Webster's dictionary describes it as "a large American fowl of the pheasant family."

John James Audubon immortalized the turkey in his portfolio.

PVT STADMIRE

Marine Pvt. Barry D. Stadmir, son of Edward and Frankie J. Ware of 910 Baylous St., Picayune, has completed recruit training at Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, SC.

During the 11-week training cycle, Stadmir was taught the basics of battlefield survival. He was introduced to the typical daily routine that he will experience during his enlistment and studied the personal and professional standards traditionally exhibited by Marines.

He participated in an active physical conditioning program and gained proficiency in a variety of military skills, including first aid, rifle marksmanship and close order drill. Teamwork and self-discipline were emphasized throughout the training cycle.

An up-date on early Christmas customs

By Joe Pilet

We have turned back the clock an hour to accommodate "day light saving time."

Now let's turn back the years to see how Christmas customs started and a bit about their development.

The first reported appearance of the Christmas tree was in 1821. First Christmas cards in America were sent in 1875.

The custom of Christmas carol singing dates much further back. Hendrik Willem Van Loon, noted historian, tells us the carol originally was a dance. Later words took on new meaning—tunes sung at Christmas time.

Hymns of joy should be sung gaily and with light spirit. Silent Night, Holy Night is the best known and most frequently sung of our many Christmas Carols.

God Rest You Merry Gentlemen is a traditional English carol. Christmas carols originated in many lands and from peoples of varying Christian faiths.

The word "carol" was used in the 13th century to describe songs that celebrated Christ's birth.

During the time the Puritans were in power in England, the singing of carols was discouraged because they were considered too joyful for such a solemn occasion.

Puritans who came to America continued their ban on carols. Caroling is now used as an opportunity to aid the needy during the holiday season.

No one knows exactly when Christ was born, however, most Christians observe Christmas on December 25.

The season of "Peace on Earth And Good Will Toward Men" is expressed with decorations, preparation of foods, church services, and friendly gatherings.

Christians are said to make up the largest religious group in the world.

The Christmas wreath, a circle that is symbolic of eternity, reminds us of God's eternal love. The holly connotes "holly" and evergreen is a symbol of everlasting life.

St. Francis when a young Italian nobleman watched revelers as they worked up spirit to celebrate Christmas felt Christmas had degenerated into a carnival—a holiday devoted to wassail, tipple and quaff.

On Christmas Eve in 1223 there was a dramatization of the manger scene. It was a live presentation. Later figurines were substituted. Some elaborate 18th Century nativity scenes are to be found in museums today.

The love of our Lord Jesus Christ's teachings keeps traditions alive, cherished and continued year after year. A heritage passed on from generation to generation. St. Francis' effort to put Christ back into Christmas was not without success.

Whiteflies on poinsettias

Look for pests on holiday plants

By Pat Harris

Entomologist

Cooperative Extension Service
Poinsettias may be good gifts at Christmastime but don't give unwanted pests along with them. Poinsettias and many other house plants may be infested with whiteflies.

Before purchasing a plant, look for small, snow-white, fluttering insects that appear like paper ash in the air. Those are adult whiteflies.

But don't stop there, turn the leaves over and look for oval, green bumps the size of pinheads stuck to the undersides of leaves. Those are immature whiteflies.

These insects feed on the juices of plants, causing the leaves to turn yellow and eventually fall off. Whiteflies on poinsettias can infest other house plants in the winter. They will not harm home furnishings or clothing. In the spring, the insects can infest vegetables and ornamentals outdoors.

If you own an infested plant, wash the leaves with a soft sponge in lukewarm water to remove all the immature stages. Or, apply a houseplant spray that has whiteflies listed on the label. Repeat the treatment in about a week to get the insects that were missed. Check the plants often because these insects reproduce very quickly and can come back again to their former level of infestation.

CHRISTMAS TREE TIPS
 Buy the freshest tree possible. If you buy your tree from a retail lot, test it for freshness by looking for soft sap on the cut base.
 Also bend a needle between your thumb and forefinger. If the needle is flexible and bends without breaking, the tree is fresh.
 The best way, of course, to ensure a fresh tree is to cut it yourself. Fine Christmas trees are grown in Mississippi and there is probably a Christmas tree plantation nearby where you can "choose and cut" your own tree. Ask your county agent.

Don't help dry your tree out by transporting it tied to the top of your car. If possible, transport your tree in a covered vehicle or in the trunk of the car, because the wind will dry the tree. A five or 10 mile trip on top of a car can turn a fresh tree into a disappointment.

If you buy your tree several days before it will be set up and decorated, store it outside. Set it in a protected place away from sun and wind. Cut the butt of the tree at a slight diagonal about one inch above the original cut - this opens the pores and aids in the absorption of water. Place the butt end in a container of water.

When you bring it into the house, saw the butt again, squaring off the diagonal. This facilitates placing the tree in a stand as well as aiding absorption.

Keep the butt end of the tree in a container of water the entire time it is in the house. Refill the container daily as a live tree may drink between two pints and a gallon of water per day. If you allow the water to drop below the trunk, a seal will form just as it does on a cut flower and a new cut will be necessary to be sure to check daily and give water as needed.

You may want to add an aspirin to the water to help keep the pores in the trunk open. Keeping the tree in a cooler room will also help it last longer.

Be sure that the base of the tree is well supported and the tree is placed away from fireplace, radiators, electric heaters, televisions or any other source of heat.

Open flames, such as lighted candles, should never be used on or near the tree. In addition, turn off the Christmas tree lights when you leave home and before you retire at night.

Check electric light cords for fraying and worn spots that could easily lead to fires. Don't overload electric circuits and avoid placing electric toys directly under the tree. Be sure to avoid the use of combustible decorations.

If a tree dries out, take it out of the house.

A properly cared for Christmas tree with moisture in its needles is no more combustible than a houseplant. Following these care and precaution measures should ensure an attractive tree and a holiday season free of Christmas tree mishaps.

CARING FOR POINSETTIAS
 Poinsettias are the traditional Christmas flower, but with proper care these plants can outlast the Christmas season.

When buying poinsettias, check the maturity of the plant. The colorful bracts are actually vividly colored leaves—not flowers. The flower part of the poinsettia is the tiny, yellow beadlike structure in the center of the bracts. Flowers that are mature will be slightly swollen, with the cup showing nectar. Avoid buying plants with flowers that have dropped from the plant.

There are many new varieties of poinsettias in a wide range of colors and blooming periods. With proper care each of these varieties often remains in good condition for two to three months.

Once you have chosen a poinsettia, use it for decorative effects around your home during the holiday season. When possible, place the plant in the sunniest place in your house. Be careful not to place the plant too close to the window since the cold windowpane will damage any part of the plant that touches it.

Poinsettias are grown in greenhouses in temperatures of about 70 degrees in the daytime and 60 degrees at night. You plant will last longer if you provide the same temperatures.

The greenhouse also has a high relative humidity. Most homes and apartments have low relative humidity in winter because of modern heating systems. You can increase the humidity around the poinsettia plant by placing it in a coaster filled with gravel. Add water for additional humidity. Be sure to keep the water level just below the bottom of the pot to avoid soggy soil, which can cause root rot.

Poinsettias don't like sudden drastic temperature changes or drafty locations. Keep the plant away from air vents and heat sources.

More information about caring for the plant after Christmas so it will flower the following season is available at the County Extension office.

USDA SURVEY
 Many Hancock County farmers received a survey from the U.S. Department of Agriculture in November. The survey was intended to get information that would be used to estimate livestock numbers.

If you received a survey and have not completed it, I urge you to do so as soon as possible.

Your cooperation is necessary to provide reliable estimates. All information is kept confidential. Individual reports will be combined with other producer reports to develop official state and national estimates.

Results from the survey will give farmers and ranchers, business firms and policy makers information to plan future policy and growth.

TODAY
 Good Health & Long Life are Invisible Christmas Gifts

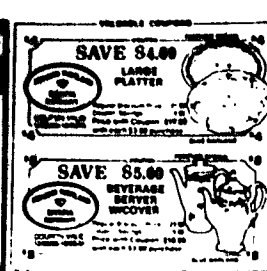

When the Three Wise Men, led by the star, came from the Orient to worship at the Crib in Bethlehem, they brought with them gifts meant for a King. Along with gold and precious stones, they brought medicinal and aromatic herbs and spices (such as frankincense and myrrh) then numbered among the world's most treasured possessions.

It is clear from Biblical writings that the early Hebrews prized the "vegetable drugs" very highly and they had great respect for the physician and the physician's assistant; the apothecary (pharmacist).

Beginning with the Book of Exodus, the Bible makes mention of these two "health team" members and of the methods they used to heal the sick. Bandages, applications of oil and of oil mixed with wine, salves, poultices, roots and leaves were the tools the Biblical physician used in order to practice his profession.

Fortunately, times have changed since then. Today's physician can count on hundreds of useful drugs to help him in his fight against disease. And, thanks to modern research, under your Christmas Star there's an invisible gift . . . health and long life.
